Vision / Interpretation:

During a time of Worship

(Later received Prayer, in faith + Prophetic Word)

Jesus came walking among us...I could see His feet, His steps, ankles and the hem of His garment. A steady wind was blowing against His garment. He walked with intention, carrying purpose and authority.

As I saw the hem of His garment I had the thought He was present for those who needed healing. Then I heard these words: "by patience and faithfulness the promises are fulfilled." Following the words, the understanding came. He was inviting me-all- that if we would reach out and touch the hem of His garment we could now ask for the fulfillment of the promises we have been believing for. Healing, yes, but far beyond that. Every promise!
Now, in His presence, ask for the fulfillment of His promise, in Jesus Name!

In Jesus we hear a resounding "yes" to all of God's many promises. This is the reason we say "Amen" to and through Jesus when giving glory to God.
2 Corinthians 1:20

John's proclamation fulfilled a promise made by the ancient prophet Isaiah, who had said, "There will be a voice calling from the desert, saying, Prepare the road for the Eternal One's journey; repair and straighten out every mile of our God's highway."
Matthew 3:3

Prepare, Prepare, Prepare

In a vision, I saw myself. I was wearing an apron serving the Lord. I thought, inside the vision, "Oh! I'm serving the body of Christ spiritual food, as I serve in the natural, Is that right, Lord?"

Then the apron changed. It looked as though it was a butcher's apron. I heard "preparing" He brought the interpretation, that during my times of worship, intercession & prayers, I am preparing sacrifices to the Lord on behalf of others, the church, even Nations.

Then the apron changed-this time to a baker's apron. I heard "prepare." I saw myself as I was preparing pastry dough of sorts, before others, for baking. In this vision - I understood while in my baker's apron the Lord was preparing me...to RISE.

Yet, again I saw myself in another white apron. This one had an embroidered tag marked at the top right simply titled "aprons." I was wearing it proudly walking in the church. I believe now this is a protective type covering. I recall, in the vision, thinking I don't know that I would feel proud to be wearing an apron walking through church on any given Sunday. But it was the Lord, in me, telling me He was proud of me as I serve the body in preparation, sacrifices and offerings. The "apron marking" was an anointing producing title He had given me that I might know that He would send others that I would help in their need to prepare for their own unique celebration and offerings before the Lord.

...but he soon grew hungry. While his lunch was being prepared, Peter had a vision of his own—a vision that linked his present hunger with what was about to happen:
Acts 10:10

1 Peter 1:13

So get yourselves ready, prepare your minds to act, control yourselves, and look forward in hope as you focus on the grace that comes when Jesus the Anointed returns and is completely revealed to you.
